- 0 Rating: Good Answer
- 1 Rating: Bad Answer
- Report It

- by biscuit_...

TOP CONTRIBUTOR

Member since:
August 20, 2007
Total points:
1750 (Level 3)
Badge Image:
TOP CONTRIBUTOR
Contributing In:
Horses

- Add to My Contacts
- Block User

Try Leather CPR it's a really awesome lil product that makes eather soft and supple and also cleans it well. I's stop wiping it with a damp rag as water can actually be very drying to leather. I understand you aren't soaking it in water but after yoyu are done I'd take a soft cloth and wipe the dirt and sweat off. then rub some of the leather CPR into it.[redacted]. I run the equine section at the store I work at & this is the product I use on ALL our leather tack to help keep it clean and in good condition . The lights in our store can be very harsh and discolor the leather and dry it out. I use this once a week on the saddles at the tops of the stands and have noticed that they no longer seem to dry out liek they did before. I also use it on my personal tack. unfortunately with it already having cracks there's nothing you can do for them, but you can try and extend it's life. However if the cracks become bad enough they could cause discomfort to the horse, so check them and the horse constantly to make sure it wqon't hurt him/her

- 1 week ago
  17% 1 Vote
- 2 Rating: Good Answer
- 0 Rating: Bad Answer
- Report It

- by Jesse R

Member since:
[illegible]